

Career opportunities of MIL graduates

Age	29
Nationality	Swiss
Start of MIL	September 2013
End of MIL	May 2014
Bachelor degree	Law at University of St.Gallen

Employer	Ernst & Young AG
Type of contract	Permanent
Work and duties	Drafting legal memos, conducting legal due diligence, conducting legal investigations (for instance, reviewing client's bank accounts for tax compliance), etc.

Employer	Credit Suisse AG
Type of contract	Permanent
Work and duties	-

Was the MIL of relevance for your job?	Yes, because the MIL was taught in English and had an international focus. Moreover, I chose the right subjects.
Did your employer know the MIL?	I don't think so.

Did you get the job because of the MIL?	No, I got it because of my good grades and ability to convince people.
Was the application process easy or difficult with an MIL degree?	Easy, I had no problem. I even had two offers from Ernst & Young and UBS.
Would you do the MIL again?	Yes, with pleasure.
Do you have any advice for job applications?	You should be proud of what you have accomplished with the MIL and talk about it with passion during the interview. The MIL has two important advantages: the language of the course is English and it is International Law. These two elements are respected in the “employment world” in my opinion/experience and this is something we can build upon. We have a solid education with the MIL to accomplish any task.
Do you have any advice for the career planning of MIL students?	No.